Another Country - Growing Up In '50s Ireland Gene Kerrigan, 1998-04-01 From First Communions to CIE Mystery Tours the heartwarming story of award winning journalist Gene Kerrigan's childhood in Dublin in the 50s. In his highly addictive style Gene Kerrigan effortlessly reconstructs the Ireland of the 1950s and early 60s in which he grew up. An adult world of absolute moral certainties, casual cruelties and mass emigration for children, an age of innocence but an innocence hemmed in by fear and guilt. In this brilliant and humorous memoir Kerrigan tells of a world that now seems as distant as another country. Into the details of school, street and family life of Christmas, First Communion, school violence, CIE Mystery Tours and the arrival of television are woven the political background of the day and recollections of the impact of major figures: Michael O'Hear, Seán Lemass, Eamon De Valera, JFK, not to mention Hector Grey, Shane Davy, Crockett and Audie Murphy. It's a compelling, touching and often very funny account of a happy childhood in a country that was itself far from happy.

The Transformation of Human Rights Fact-finding Philip Alston, Sarah Knuckey, 2016 Fact finding is at the heart of human rights advocacy and is often at the center of international controversies about alleged government abuses. In recent years human rights fact finding has greatly proliferated and become more sophisticated and complex while also being subjected to stronger scrutiny from governments. Nevertheless, despite the prominence of fact finding, it remains strikingly understudied and undertheorized. Too little has been done to bring forth the assumptions, methodologies and techniques of this rapidly developing field or to open human rights fact finding to critical and constructive scrutiny. The Transformation of Human Rights Fact Finding offers a multidisciplinary approach to the study of fact finding with rigorous and critical analysis of the field of practice while providing a range of accounts of what actually happens. It deepens the study and practice of human rights investigations and fosters fact finding as a discretely studied topic while mapping crucial transformations in the field. The contributions to this book are the result of a major international conference organized by New York University Law School's Center for Human Rights and Global Justice. Engaging the expertise and experience of the editors and contributing authors, it offers a broad approach encompassing contemporary issues and analysis across the human rights spectrum in law, international relations and critical theory. This book addresses the major areas of human rights fact finding such as victim and witness issues, fact finding for advocacy, enforcement and litigation, the role of interdisciplinary expertise and methodologies, crowd sourcing
