Taming the Sharks Christopher L. Peterson, 2004 Taming the Sharks Towards a Cure for the High Cost Credit Market chronicles the historic economic legal and political factors breeding America's feverish high cost debt industry The ideas presented are novel progressive and controversial Historians have long argued that interest rates provide a sort of economic and political health of nations If true the contemporary American market for credit shows troubling signs of distress While Federal Reserve Board monetary policy has kept commercial and prime consumer interest rates low the past two decades have seen explosive growth in an industry specializing in high cost consumer debt Payday loan outlet chains automobile title loan companies rent to own furniture stores pawnshops and sub prime and manufactured home mortgage lenders are transforming the personal finance patterns of millions of Americans Many observers have complained this industry charges excessive prices uses unfair business practices and is generally causing more harm for its borrowers than good Industry insiders retort they are merely responding to a legitimate demand for financial services that in effect consumers vote with their feet Echoing problems of past centuries today's consumers face difficulty comparing credit prices patterns of reckless lending and borrowing as well as distressing economic externalities With an idea on the future Peterson's book hopes to find ingredients of a compromise to protect working poor borrowers while simultaneously preserving economic competition

Searching for Zion Emily Raboteau, 2013-01-08 From Jerusalem to Ghana to Katrina ravaged New Orleans a woman reclaims her history in a beautifully written and thought provoking memoir Dave Eggers author of A Hologram for the King and Zeitoun A biracial woman from a country still divided along racial lines Emily Raboteau never felt at home in America As the daughter of an African American religious historian she understood the Promised Land as the spiritual realm black people yearned for But while visiting Israel the Jewish Zion she was surprised to discover black Jews More surprising was the story of how they got there Inspired by their exodus her question for them is the same one she keeps asking herself have you found the home you're looking for In this American Book Award winning inquiry into contemporary and historical ethnic displacement Raboteau embarked on a ten year journey around the globe and back in time to explore the complex and contradictory perspectives of black Zionists She talked to Rastafarians and African Hebrew Israelites Evangelicals and Ethiopian Jews all in search of territory that is hard to define and harder to inhabit Uniting memoir with cultural investigation Raboteau overturns our ideas of place patriotism dispossession citizenship and country in an exceptionally beautiful book about a search for the kind of home for which there is no straight route the kind of home in which the journey itself is as revelatory as the destination Edwidge Danticat author of The Farming of Bones
