examines the key role of research led ethical architects in promoting wellbeing sustainability and innovation It argues that the profession needs to be clear about what it knows and the value of what it knows if it is to work successfully with others Without this clarity the marginalization of architects from the production of the built environment will continue preventing clients businesses and society from getting the buildings that they need The book offers a strategy for the development of a twenty first century knowledge led built environment including tools to help evidence develop and communicate that value to those outside the field Knowing how to demonstrate the impact and value of their work will strengthen practitioners ability to pitch for work and access new funding streams This is particularly important at a time of global economic downturn with ever greater competition for contracts and funds driving down fees and making it imperative to prove value at every level

Why Architects Matter straddles the spheres of Practice Management and Law History and Theory Design Housing Sustainability Health Marketing and Advice for Clients bringing them into an accessible whole The book will therefore be of interest to professional architects architecture students and anyone with an interest in our built environment and the role of professionals within it Health Research Governance in Africa Cheluchi Onyemelukwe-Onuobia,2018-09-06 The globalisation of research has resulted in the increased location of research involving humans in developing countries Countries in Africa along with China and India have seen research grow significantly With emerging infectious diseases such as Ebola and Zika emphasising the risk of public health crises throughout the world a further increase in health research including clinical research in developing countries which are often the sites of these diseases becomes inevitable This growth raises questions about domestic regulation and the governance of health research This book presents a comprehensive and systemic view of the regulation of research involving humans in African countries It employs case studies from four countries in which research activities continue to rise and which have taken steps to regulate health research activity South Africa Nigeria Kenya and Egypt The book examines the historical and political contexts of these governance efforts It describes the research context some of the research taking place and the current challenges It also looks at the governance mechanisms ranging from domestic ethical guidelines to legal frameworks the strengthening of existing regulatory agencies to the role of professional regulatory bodies The book analyses the adequacy of current governance arrangements within African countries and puts forward recommendations to improve the emerging governance systems for health research in African and other developing countries It book will be a valuable resource for academics researchers practitioners and policy makers working in the areas of health research biomedical ethics health law and regulation in developing countries
