Nietzsche Heidegger And Buber Discovering The Mind:

Nietzsche, Heidegger, and Buber Walter Arnold Kaufmann, Nietzsche, Heidegger, and Buber Walter Kaufmann, 2017-09-29 In this second volume of a trilogy that represents a landmark contribution to philosophy psychology and intellectual history Walter Kaufmann has selected three seminal figures of the modern period who have radically altered our understanding of what it is to be human His interpretations of Nietzsche Heidegger and Buber are lively accessible and penetrating and in the best scholarly tradition they challenge and revise accepted views After an introductory chapter on Kierkegaard and Schopenhauer with particular attention to the former's views on despair and the latter's on insanity and repression Kaufmann argues that Nietzsche was the first great depth psychologist and shows how he revolutionized human self understanding Nietzsche's psychology including his fascinating psychology of masks is discussed fully and expertly Heidegger's version of existentialism is herein subjected to a devastating attack After criticizing it Kaufmann shows how the same mentality finds expression in Heidegger's philosophy and in his now infamous pro Nazi writings Here as in his portraits of other major thinkers the author's concern is to show that his subjects are of one piece

Discovering the Mind:

Nietzsche, Heidegger, and Buber Walter Arnold Kaufmann, 1980 Discovering the Mind: Nietzsche, Heidegger, and Buber Walter Kaufmann, 1980 Nietzsche, Heidegger, and Buber Walter Kaufmann, 2017-09-20 53 Procrustes Is it Really Possible to Discover the Mind of a Dead Writer or One's Own Writing as Self Revelation Reason without Intuitions is Blind Intuitions without Reason are Mad No Dichotomy between Discovering My Own Mind and Someone Else's 54 Peeping Toms Have I not Stopped Short of Really Discovering their Minds Right to Privacy The Machine Gun Approach 55 Transition to Freud Bibliography Acknowledgments Goethe, Kant, and Hegel Walter Kaufmann, 2017-07-12 This immensely readable and absorbing book the first of a three volume series on understanding the human mind concentrates on three major figures who have changed our image of human beings Kaufmann drastically revises traditional conceptions of Goethe Kant and Hegel showing how their ideas about the mind were shaped by their own distinctive mentalities Kaufmann's version of psychohistory stays clear of gossip and is carefully documented He offers us a radically new understanding of two centuries of intellectual history but his primary focus is on self knowledge He is in a unique position to perform this task by virtue of being according to Stephen Spender the best translator of Faust and in Sidney Hook's view unquestionably the most interesting and informative writer of Hegel in English The foremost interpreter of Kant Lewis White Beck has called this book on Goethe Kant and Hegel fascinating a work which will stir up a good many people by telling them things they have never heard and providing an alternative to what is the accepted reading of that part of the history of philosophy The story of how personality affects philosophy has never been better told We are shown how Goethe advanced the discovery of the mind more than anyone before him while Kant was in many ways a disaster Hegel like others between 1790 to 1990 tried to reconcile Kant and Goethe Kaufmann shows this is impossible He paints a large picture but he is always highly specific and details the major contributions of Goethe and Hegel as well as the ways in which Kant's immense influence proved catastrophic rehabilitated Nietzsche's reputation after World War II and was enormously influential in introducing postwar American readers to existentialism. Until now no book has examined his intellectual legacy. Stanley Corngold provides the first in-depth study of Kaufmann's thought covering all his major works. He shows how Kaufmann speaks to many issues that concern us today such as the good of philosophy, the effects of religion, the persistence of tragedy and the crisis of the humanities in an age of technology. Few scholars in modern times can match Kaufmann's range of interests from philosophy and literature to intellectual history and comparative religion, from psychology and photography to art and architecture. Corngold provides a heartfelt portrait of a man who to an extraordinary extent transfigured his personal experience in the pages of his books. This original study, both appreciative and critical, is the definitive intellectual life of one of the twentieth century's most engaging yet neglected thinkers. It will introduce Kaufmann to a new generation of readers and serves as a fitting tribute to a scholar's incomparable libido sciendi or lust for knowledge.

Martin Buber's Dialogical Thought as a Philosophy of Action Asaf Ziderman, 2024-10-30. This book promotes a philosophical revival of Buber's dialogical thought by repositioning it as a philosophy of action, departing from a long established consensus that narrowly viewed it as a post-Kantian epistemology. Based on careful analysis of his writings, the book's main thrust is to reconstruct Buber's argument that dialogue is the perfected form of action and a perfect action is necessarily dialogical. This reconstruction renders Buber's dialogical thought pertinent to contemporary analytic philosophy by situating it within central discussions in the field of philosophy of action.
