Nice Book Social Life Dna Reparations Reconciliation:

Identity Carles Lalueza-Fox, 2025-10-14 How genetics can provide novel fascinating and objective data on human identity when identity has never been more important Our identity both personal and collective is a fluid and complex narrative often rooted in the past This past can now be explored with new technological developments in the last few years more than 12 000 ancient human genomes have been retrieved At the same time ancestry test companies are building conceptions on our identity based on genetic data from literally tens of millions of customers Computational approaches are now able to generate pedigrees with literally millions of people across tens of generations In Identity Carles Lalueza Fox explores how the unprecedented amount of genetic information generated in the last ten years can provide meaningful and fascinating evidence about our identity starting at the individual level and ending at the species level As genetics take center stage as a social transformative tool in the twenty first century this book helps explain the tremendous impact it will have on our concept of identity

How We Give Now Lucy Bernholz, 2023-08-15 From Go Fund Me to philanthropy the everyday ways that we can give our money our time and even our data to help our communities and seek justice In How We Give Now Lucy Bernholz shows that philanthropy is more than writing a check and claiming a tax deduction For most of us the non wealthy givers philanthropy can be a way of living our values and fully participating in society We give in all kinds of ways shopping at certain businesses canvassing for candidates donating money and making conscious choices with our retirement funds We give our cash our time and even our data to make the world a better place Bernholz takes readers on a tour of the often overlooked worlds of participatory philanthropy learning from a diverse group of forty resourceful givers Donating our digitized personal data is an emerging form of philanthropy and Bernholz describes safe equitable and effective ways of doing so giving genetic data for medical research through a nonprofit genetics organization rather than a commercial one for example or contributing photographs to an online archive like the Densho Digital Repository which documents America s internment of 120 000 Americans of Japanese descent Bernholz tells us to follow the money however when we re asked to add a dollar to our total at the cash register or when we buy a charity branded product it s more effective to give directly than to give while shopping Giving is a form of participation Philanthropy by the rest of us across geographies and cultural traditions begins with and builds on active commitment to our communities

Technologies of Kinship LiLi Johnson, 2025-11-25 Technologies of Kinship traces how technology and technological systems have shaped the co constitution of Asian American racial formation and family and kinship in American culture Provided by publisher

Postcolonial Aeromobilities Bart Paul Vanspauwen, Iñigo Sánchez-Fuarros, 2025-06-23 This edited collection explores how national airlines in postcolonial states operate at the complex intersection of corporate branding cultural governance tourism development and national identity formation It conceptualizes airplanes and airports as both tangible infrastructural spaces and symbolic domains that connect geographically distant regions while embodying aspirations of political sovereignty and cultural unity Through diverse case studies spanning multiple continents the book examines how commercial aviation's physical and cultural spaces either reinforce or challenge colonial histories and imperial legacies The volume reveals how modern Western imperial narratives were shaped through specific cultural and social negotiations that played out in airline branding route networks service standards and cultural policies It analyzes how airlines serve as vehicles for projecting soft power and cultural diplomacy while mediating between local traditions and global modernity Drawing on rich empirical examples from Angola Argentina Australia Belgium Brazil Jamaica Kenya France Hong Kong Indonesia Lebanon Mexico Peru South Africa Turkey and the United States this collection demonstrates how airlines employ sophisticated cultural management and corporate branding strategies to shape national and regional identities By examining airlines as sites where business strategy cultural policy and identity politics intersect this collection advances our understanding of how transportation infrastructure shapes social imaginaries and power relations in our increasingly connected yet culturally diverse world The research has important implications for scholars of business history cultural studies postcolonial theory and transportation geography while offering practical insights for policymakers and airline industry leaders Unmarking

Whiteness and the New American Racism Michael L. Blakey, 2025-07-18 This book criticizes recent performative solutions to racism diversity programs at universities for example and White people's fragility or intolerance of mature criticism These ideas are locked in an intellectually gated and defensive conversation that effectively denies the ongoing particular abuses of White supremacy This book instead proposes expensive educational and economic changes including reparations as necessary to achieve real equity Once imputed by the eugenical effects of World War II and the Civil Rights Movement's opposition to White racism the word race was largely stricken from scientific writing But biological determinism remained deeply ensconced in an institution of science that assumed the natural world to be determining making natural science its most authoritative means Authoritative heritability estimates and genetic correlations though spurious continued to imply that obvious racial and class inequalities including their dire health effects were natural and acceptable White people often attempted to unmark their racial identity and assumed that of the uniquely normal people as though an act of anti racism Frankenberg shows On the contrary it served to deny their skin color privileges while enjoying benefits of ongoing structural racism as the only real complete human beings in the room This book uses an ethnology of anthropology to show White people's equivocal views of other's equality in their formal analyses museum collections and exhibitions and treatment of colleagues in recent times They remained deliberately deaf to critical African diasporic scholarship Thus Unmarking gives an anthropological analysis of the social history of White supremacy and shows what it is like for some to confront it In constructing this historical and sociological counternarrative the author provides a critical new social history that illuminates a tangled and turgid past for contemporary readers students and researchers with vital insights for anthropology sociology history cultural studies philosophy and American studies Reflections of Our Past John H.

Relethford, Deborah A. Bolnick, 2018-03-26 The rise of the multi billion dollar ancestry testing industry points to one immutable truth about us as human beings we want to know where we come from and who our ancestors were John H Relethford and Deborah A Bolnick explore this topic and many more in this second edition of Reflections of Our Past Where did modern humans come from and how important are the biological differences among us Are we descended from Neandertals How should we understand the connections between genetic ancestry race and identity Were Native Americans the first to inhabit the Americas Can we see evidence of the Viking invasions of Ireland a millennium ago even in the Irish of today Through engaging examination of issues such as these and using non technical language Reflections of Our Past shows how anthropologists use genetic information to suggest answers to fundamental questions about human history By looking at genetic variation in the world today and in the past we can reconstruct the recent and remote events and processes that have created the variation we see providing a fascinating reflection of our genetic past

To Judge and To Justify Steve Fuller, 2024-10-28 This book argues that judging and justifying are the two skills that specifically require academic training In the current times where the value of a university degree is increasingly questioned it s important to emphasize the significance of these skills This volume addresses that universities are not necessarily stressing these skills preferring instead to focus on the delivery of content and the provision of credentials Its main focus is on articulating the positive case for the university s focus on judging and explaining as its core transferable skills It involves examining the historical and philosophical case for this claim canvassing arguments made and the example set by Plato Francis Bacon Immanuel Kant William Whewell Ludwig Wittgenstein Paul Feyerabend Richard Rorty John Rawls and Robert Nozick as well as considering how they might be realized in today s world This book extends the arguments in Fuller s recent book Back to the University s Future The Second Coming of Humboldt Springer 2023

Right Research Geoffrey Rockwell, Oliver Rossier, Chelsea Miya, 2021-04-29 The book is current and interdisciplinary engaging with recent developments around this topic and including perspectives from sciences arts and humanities It will be a welcome contribution to studies of the Anthropocene as well as studies of research methods and practices Sam Mickey University of S Francisco Educational institutions play an instrumental role in social and political change and are responsible for the environmental and social ethics of their institutional practices The essays in this volume critically examine scholarly research practices in the age of the Anthropocene and ask what accountability educators and researchers have in righting their relationship to the environment The volume further calls attention to the geographical financial legal and political barriers that might limit scholarly dialogue by excluding researchers from participating in traditional modes of scholarly conversation As such Right Research is a bold invitation to the academic community to rigorous self reflection on what their research looks like how it is conducted and how it might be developed so as to increase accessibility and sustainability and decrease carbon footprint The volume follows a three part structure that bridges conceptual and practical concerns the first section challenges our assumptions about how

sustainability is defined measured and practiced the second section showcases artist researchers whose work engages with the impact of humans on our environment while the third section investigates how academic spaces can model eco conscious behaviour This timely volume responds to an increased demand for environmentally sustainable research and is outstanding not only in its interdisciplinarity but its embrace of non traditional formats spanning academic articles creative acts personal reflections and dialogues Right Research will be a valuable resource for educators and researchers interested in developing and hybridizing their scholarly communication formats in the face of the current climate crisis Literature, Science, and Public Policy Jay Clayton, 2023-08-17 Literature Science and Public Policy shows how literature can influence scientific controversies and shape policy concerning evolution genetics and genomics Writing Backwards Alexander Manshel, 2023-11-21 Finalist 2025 SHARP Book History Book Prize Society for the Study of the History of Authorship Reading and Publishing Contemporary fiction has never been less contemporary Midcentury writers tended to set their works in their own moment but for the last several decades critical acclaim and attention have fixated on historical fiction This shift is particularly dramatic for writers of color Even as the literary canon has become more diverse cultural institutions have celebrated Black Asian American Latinx and Indigenous novelists almost exclusively for their historical fiction Writing Backwards explores what the dominance of historical fiction in the contemporary canon reveals about American literary culture Alexander Manshel investigates the most celebrated historical genres contemporary narratives of slavery the World War II novel the multigenerational family saga immigrant fiction and the novel of recent history alongside the literary and academic institutions that have elevated them He examines novels by writers including Toni Morrison Viet Thanh Nguyen Colson Whitehead Julia Alvarez Leslie Marmon Silko Michael Chabon Julie Otsuka Yaa Gyasi Ben Lerner and Tommy Orange in the context of MFA programs literary prizes university syllabi book clubs and the National Endowment for the Arts Manshel studies how historical fiction has evolved over the last half century documenting the formation of the newly inclusive literary canon as well as who and what it still excludes Offering new insight into how institutions shape literature and the limits of historical memory Writing Backwards also considers recent challenges to the historical turn in American fiction
