Nigerian Foreign Policy Under Military Rule, 1966-1999 Olayiwola Abegunrin, 2003-02-28 Abegunrin provides a significant and comprehensive examination of Nigerian foreign policy 1966 1999 during the almost 33 years of military rule punctuated by the four year civilian interregnum 1979 1983 He analyzes what led to the military rule in 1966 and the foreign policy performance of each military regime that ruled the country since 1966 He also discusses extensively the economic dimension of the nation s foreign policy He shows that the last 15 years the period of Generals Babangida and Abacha were the most corrupt and brutal that Nigeria had seen since independence The mysterious sudden death of General Sani Abacha led to the appointment of General Abubakar who handed power over to an elected civilian government in May 1999 led by President Olusegun Obasanjo Of particular interest to scholars students and other researchers involved with African politics and foreign policy and the role of the military in political affairs Corruption and Nigerian Foreign Policy (1999 - 2007)

Jude Uddoh, 2016-01-15 Nigerias foreign policy has always been predicated on the national interest which is reducible to the security and welfare of its citizens Nigerias position in Africa its teeming population and rich endowment of mineral resources including oil all contributed to the notion of Nigerias manifest leadership in Africa and beyond Through what became known as an Afrocentrist foreign policy Nigeria championed the cause of liberating Africa from apartheid and colonial rule Nigeria sent troops to peace missions in various conflict zones in Africa and other parts of the world and contributed financially and materially to the well being of fellow African as well as Caribbean states Nigeria thus earned for itself the image of a responsible and well respected member of the international community Human Rights in Nigeria's External Relations in the Age of General Muhammadu Buhari and His Successors Philip C. Aka, 2024-07-17 Under the Fourth Republic since 1999 the challenge Nigerian leaders face like never before is how to create a state that matches the expectations of their diverse peoples at home and abroad Taking this proposition as starting point this book advances proposals for a human right policy referred to alternately in the work as principled foreign policy for Nigeria under the Fourth Republic taking advantage of the inestimable opportunity afforded by General Muhammadu Buhari s departure from the political scene on May 29 2023 after the famine domestically and externally wrought by his two terms of office as President It is a broad ranging argument draped in the less arcane constitutional vocabulary and material of human rights for thoroughgoing reforms at home and abroad as the only antidote to the nation building dilemmas Nigeria confronts in the first quarter of the twenty first century Buhari s departure marks the end of military teleguidance of Nigerian politics under the Fourth Republic in the camouflage of democratic rule a birthmark of remote control dating back to the first military intervention in the country in January 1966 These momentous events within Nigeria coincide with equally epoch making developments in the UK Nigeria s former colonial overlord with ripple effects in Nigeria signified by the death of Queen Elizabeth II after seven decades on the throne and the emergence of Prince Charles as King of England A new monarch in Britain adds to the opportunity that falls open for the reconfiguration of Nigeria's external relations with ramifications for the application of human rights in those relations. Despite its known disabilities, Nigeria has the potential infrastructure including its sizable population to conduct a human right policy if its leaders rationalize the country's resources more wisely.

Nigeria's External Relations and Foreign Policy Under Military Rule, 1966-1999 W. Alade Fawole, 2003. This book is an effort to condense the totality of Nigeria's external relations and foreign policy activities, accomplishments and shortcomings during the thirty years of military rule 1966 to 1999 into a single volume. It intends to close a gap in the literature on this period in which writers tended to concentrate on individual regimes and events ignoring or glossing over the bigger picture. The work is organised chronologically. It begins with a section on the foundation principles and purposes of Nigerian foreign policy. It then discusses the Yakubu Gowon period 1966-1975 in the context of domestic instability, civil war and foreign policy. Chapters follow on the period of Murtala Muhammed 1975-1976, Obasanjo 1976-1979 and Nigeria as a new African power. Buhari xenophobia and the beginning of isolation, the Babangida period and the new optimism and the return to the dark times and international isolation with Sani Abacha. The final chapters consider the new civil beginnings in Nigeria since 1999 and offer an overall evaluation of the outcomes of military rule. The author is a specialist in international relations based at University of Ife, Nigeria.

in Global Politics in the Twenty-First Century Olayiwola Abegunrin,2009-11-18 In the twenty first century Africa has become an important source of US energy imports and the world s natural resources It has also become the epicentre of the world s deadly health epidemic HIV AIDS and one of the battlegrounds in the fight against terrorism Africa is now a major player in global affairs Africa in the New World Order Olayiwola Abegunrin,2014-07-08 This book examines the role of the emerging African nations in the new international order of the twenty first century Since the end of the Cold War little significance has been placed on the African continent in the security and political considerations of the Western world However post 9 11 international security has been redefined and new challenges have been identified Thus at the beginning of the twenty first century Africa is facing a variety of new security challenges Africa has become an increasingly important battleground in the fight against terrorism Since the beginning of 2011 the new revolutions now known as the Arab Spring that swept through North Africa have created new challenges for the African continent and are compounding the African peoples struggles for poverty alleviation state stability security socio political and socio economic development democracy and good governance In addition to these crises of civil war ethnic conflict state insecurity and rampant corruption at all levels the HIV AIDS pandemic has ravaged the continent for the past four decades The only major pan African organization the African Union is unable to lead and defend the continent effectively At this crucial period when the continent is confronted with these myriad of security challenges it needs effective strong leadership that possesses both human and natural resources to play a leadership role in Africa and lead the continent in the new global order of the twenty first century The contributors to this volume analyze many of these issues and place them in the wider context of global security

Nigeria Since Independence J. Hill,2012-10-10 This book analyses the political and ethnical tensions that characterize Nigeria which derive both from colonial and contemporary conflicts It points out three major factors why Nigeria has not yet collapsed like many other African states ethnic power sharing amongst the political elite the military with its national outlook and oil wealth Liberal Democracy and Its Critics in Africa Tukumbi Lumumba-Kasonga,2013-07-04 Democratic institutional forms and processes are increasingly widespread in Africa as dictatorial regimes have been forced to give way as a result of popular mobilization and external donor pressure. However, the premises of the African scholars whose empirical research and analytical explorations are included in this volume are that democratic form and democratic substance are two different things. Western derived institutional forms are neither necessarily the most appropriate nor the most practical in the current African context and rooting democratic norms in the political cultures of African polities raises socio cultural issues with which political scientists must engage. This book explores various critical questions in the context of particular elections and particular countries as diverse as Ghana, Nigeria, Kenya, the Congo, Cameroon and the Central African Republic. They include the continuing impact of police state apparatuses following democratic transition, factors influencing African voters' attitudes and behaviour, the impact of incumbency on electoral competition, women's electoral participation, the phenomenon of often very limited party programmatic choice in the context of huge social diversity and multi party competition and the controversial issues around the transplantation of liberal democratic institutions. Underlying these issues is the fundamental question of whether democratic processes as currently practised in Africa are really making any significant difference to the African struggle for economic, social and cultural progress. This volume is valuable for the original perspectives of its African contributors, the issues it explores and the concrete democratic experiences it analyses and the challenges it makes to the existing concepts, paradigms and practices of liberal democracy.
