Beyond Expectations Onoso Imoagene, 2017-02-21 In Beyond Expectations Onoso Imoagene delves into the multifaceted identities of second generation Nigerian adults in the United States and Britain She argues that they conceive of an alternative notion of black identity that differs radically from African American and Black Caribbean notions of black in the United States and Britain Instead of considering themselves in terms of their country of destination alone second generation Nigerians define themselves in complicated ways that balance racial status a diasporic Nigerian ethnicity a pan African identity and identification with fellow immigrants Based on over 150 interviews Beyond Expectations seeks to understand how race ethnicity and class shape identity and how globalization transnationalism and national context inform sense of self

African & American Marilyn Halter, Violet Showers Johnson, 2014-08-29 Examines what it means to be African and American through the stories of recent West African immigrants African American tells the story of the much overlooked experience of first and second generation West African immigrants and refugees in the United States during the last forty years Interrogating the complex role of post colonialism in the recent history of black America Marilyn Halter and Violet Showers Johnson highlight the intricate patterns of emigrant work and family adaptation the evolving global ties with Africa and Europe and the translocal connections among the West African enclaves in the United States Drawing on a rich variety of sources including original interviews personal narratives cultural and historical analysis and documentary and demographic evidence African American explores issues of cultural identity formation and socioeconomic incorporation among this new West African diaspora Bringing the experiences of those of recent African ancestry from the periphery to the center of current debates in the fields of immigration ethnic and African American studies Halter and Johnson examine the impact this community has had on the changing meaning of African Americanness and address the provocative question of whether West African immigrants are indeed becoming the newest African Americans

The Triple Package Jed Rubenfeld, Amy Chua, 2014-02-05 Why do Jews win so many Nobel Prizes and Pulitzer Prizes Why are Mormons running the business and finance sectors Why do the children of even impoverished and poorly educated Chinese immigrants excel so remarkably at school It may be taboo to say it but some cultural groups starkly outperform others The bestselling husband and wife team Amy Chua author of Battle Hymn of the Tiger Mother and Jed Rubenfeld author of The Interpretation of Murder reveal the three essential components of success its hidden spurs inner dynamics and its potentially damaging costs showing how ultimately when properly understood and harnessed the Triple Package can put anyone on their chosen path to success

Engaging the Diaspora Pauline Ada Uwakweh, Jerono P.

Rotich, Comfort O. Okpala, 2013-10-29 By its focus on the African immigrant family Engaging the Diaspora Migration and African Families carves its own niche on the migration discourse It brings together the experiences of African immigrant families as defined by various transnational forces As an interdisciplinary text Engaging makes a handy reference for scholars and researchers in institutions of higher learning as well as for community service providers working on diversity issues It promotes knowledge about Africans in the Diaspora and the African continent through current and relevant case studies This book enhances learning on the contemporary factors that continue to shape African migrants Immigrant Generations, Media Representations, and Audiences

Omotayo O. Banjo, 2021-09-27 This anthology examines how immigrants and their US born children use media to negotiate their American identity and how audiences engage with mediated narratives about the immigrant experience cultural adjustments language use and the like Where this work diverges from other collections and monographs is the area is its intentional focus on how both first and second generation Americans complex identities and hybrid cultures interact with mediated narratives in general alongside the extent to which these narratives reflect their experience In a three part structure the collection examines representations zooms in to explore the reception of these narratives through autoethnographic essays and concludes in a section of analysis and critique of specific media Natives and Strangers

Leonard Dinnerstein, Roger L. Nichols, David M. Reimers, 2015 Who is an American How does a person who is not an American become one Now in its sixth edition Natives and Strangers A History of Ethnic Americans addresses these and many other vital questions Comprehensive and accessible this unique volume explores various aspects of American minority group history Examining the impact that America has had on minority peoples and cultures and vice versa authors Leonard Dinnerstein Roger L Nichols and David M Reimers provide insights into the different conditions conflicts and contradictions that members of American minority groups experienced They integrate the experiences of various racial religious and national minorities from around the globe including American Indians African Americans and immigrants from Europe Asia Latin America and other parts of the world explaining how their histories intertwined with the emergence of modern America The authors conclude with reflections on where the nation stands today as an ethnically and racially diverse society Structured Luck

Onoso Imoagene, 2023-04-03 The Diversity Immigrant Visa Program is a lottery that awards winners from underrepresented countries the chance to apply for legal permanent residence in the United States Most lottery winners think of themselves as lucky viewing the win as an opportunity to pursue better lives for themselves and their families In Structured Luck sociologist Onoso Imoagene uses immigrants stories to show that while the visa program benefits many recipients the program s design can also lead to exploitation in their countries of origin and reduced potential once they are in the United States Combining ethnographic observation in Africa and interviews with immigrants their family members and friends from Ghana and Nigeria Imoagene demonstrates that the visa program is a process of structured luck from how people hear about the lottery who registers for it and who participates in it to the application requirements for the visa In Ghana and Nigeria people often learn about the lottery through friends colleagues or relatives who persuade them to enter for the perceived benefits of receiving a visa opportunities for upward mobility permanent legal status and the ability to bring along family members Though anyone can enter the lottery not everyone who wins obtains a visa The visa application process requires proof of a high school diploma or artisan skills a medical exam a criminal background check an interview with U S consular officers and payment of fees Such requirements have led to the growth of visa entrepreneurs who often charge exorbitant fees to steer immigrants through the process Visa recipients who were on track to obtain university degrees at home often leave in the middle of their studies for the United States but struggle to continue their education due to high U S tuition costs And though their legal status allows them to escape the demoralizing situations that face the undocumented these immigrants lack the social support that the government sometimes provides for refugees and other migrants Ultimately Imoagene notes the real winner of the visa lottery is not the immigrants themselves but the United States which benefits from their relatively higher levels of education Consequently she argues the U S must do more to minimize the visa program s negative consequences Structured Luck illuminates the trauma resilience and determination of immigrants who come to the United States through the Diversity Visa Program and calls for the United States to develop policies that will better integrate them into society
