Night Of A Thousand Blossoms:

Night of a Thousand Blossoms Frank Gaspar, 2004 In these poems the poet restlessly inhabits the night finding it terrifying and beautiful searching for meaning in the yard the neighborhood the heavens and every wise book he owns These urban pastoral meditations employ ritual and repetition to create a kind of mantra seeking surrender to that state of meditation leading to enlightenment yet arguing with the idea of surrendering any attachments at all to this world we've been given to learn and love a city garden cohabitated by ancient Romans and tattooed kids automobiles and hollyhock maurlauding cats and the Buddha I should be satisfied with the household gods he mourns but is satisfied with nothing determined to fit the whole world into his poems lest the one essential thing slip by From The One God is Mysterious The king and his queen are feasting They recline sumptuously on long divans and are attended by naked servants They can have anything they want this much is clear and I believe they have been having sex with one another and with the servants Why wouldn't they Who among the servants would not be honored to help And it's Babylon after all and doesn't Babylon exist in your memory Isn't Babylon the clear rumbling of your heart at ease with its every craving not the way it is now fenced off with spiked wire and old pipes with signs telling the pedestrians to beware the litter the old cans rusting No this is my own memory of excess and extravagance of abandonment to the weight of everything that pulls me down to ruin those same ticks and voices that lift me up and fill me with breath Frank Gaspar's poems are agile and forceful their narratives clear and absorbing In them he is speaking to the reader but also to himself or perhaps to some hazy divinity or to the blue sky I felt in his voice no attempt to persuade me of anything I felt only the abiding imperative to get it right Which is of course what real writing is all about Mary Oliver

The official battle Gong Dou Night Trains Barbara Wood, Gareth Wootton, 2012-05-01 An unforgettable account of how an entire town in Poland resists the devastating blow of the occupying Nazi forces using wit courage and determination as its only weapons Occupied by the Germans the strategically located town of Sofia Poland stands on the brink of annihilation in 1941 As every arrest and execution brings total obliteration closer to reality two medical doctors devise an ingenious plan to stage a typhus epidemic that will force the Nazis to evacuate The locals and their enemy swiftly become enmeshed in what soon becomes the most daring act of resistance in World War II Jan Szukalski A brilliant doctor he masterminds the hoax with his partner Mary Duszynska whose work binds them together more strongly than love itself Maximillian Hartung A German officer he is ruthless in his lust for personal power and determined to win Hitler's personal attention by breaking the resistance in Sofia David Ryz A young Jewish leader of a zealous band of partisans he helps incite the town to violence and unwittingly puts the medical hoax in jeopardy Gripping and powerful Night Trains brilliantly illuminates the classic conflict between active and passive resistance in one town's fight for survival Portuguese and Luso-Asian Legacies in Southeast Asia, 1511-2011, vol. 1 Laura Jarnagin, 2003-08-01 In 1511 a Portuguese expedition under the command of Afonso de Albuquerque arrived on the shores of Malacca taking control of the prosperous Malayan port city after a swift military campaign Portugal a peripheral but then technologically advanced country in southwestern Europe since the latter fifteenth century had been in the process of establishing solid outposts all along Asia's littoral in order to participate in the most active and profitable maritime trading routes of the day As it turned out the Portuguese presence and influence in the Malayan Peninsula and elsewhere in continental and insular Asia expanded far beyond the sphere of commerce and extended over time well into the twenty first century Five hundred years later a conference held in Singapore brought together a large group of scholars from widely different national academic and disciplinary contexts to analyse and discuss the intricate consequences of Portuguese interactions in Asia over the longue duree The result of these discussions is a stimulating set of case studies that as a rule combine original archival and or field research with innovative historiographical perspectives Luso Asian communities real and imagined and Luso Asian heritage material and symbolic are studied with depth and insight The range of thematic chronological and geographic areas covered in these proceedings is truly remarkable showing not only the extraordinary relevance of revisiting Luso Asian interactions in the longer term but also the surprising dynamism within an area of studies which seemed on the verge of exhaustion After all archives from all over the world from Rio de Janeiro to London from Lisbon to Rome and from Goa to Macao might still hold some secrets on the subject of Luso Asian relations when duly explored by resourceful scholars Rui M Loureiro Centro de Historia de Alem Mar Lisbon Portuguese and Luso-Asian Legacies in Southeast Asia, 1511-2011: The making of the Luso-Asian world, intricacies of engagement Laura Jarnagin, 2011 Five hundred years later a conference held in Singapore brought together a large group of scholars from widely different national academic and disciplinary contexts to analyse and discuss the intricate consequences of Portuguese interactions in Asia over the longue duree The result of these discussions is a stimulating set of case studies that as a rule combine original archival and or field research with innovative historiographical perspectives Luso Asian communities real and imagined and Luso Asian heritage material and symbolic are studied with depth and insight The range of thematic chronological and geographic areas covered in these proceeding is truly remarkable showing not only the extraordinary relevance of revisiting Luso Asian interactions in the longer term but also the surprising dynamism within an area of studies which seemed on the verge of exhaustion After all archives from all over the world from Rio de Janeiro to London from Lisbon to Rome and from Goa to Macao might still hold some secrets on the subject of Luso Asian relations when duly explored by resourceful scholars
