Philosophy In The Flesh The Embodied Mind Its Challenge To Western Thought:

Philosophy In The Flesh George Lakoff, 1999-10-08 What are human beings like How is knowledge possible What is truth Where do moral values come from Questions like these have stood at the center of Western philosophy for centuries In addressing them philosophers have made certain fundamental assumptions that we can know our own minds by introspection that most of our thinking about the world is literal and that reason is disembodied and universal that are now called into question by well established results of cognitive science It has been shown empirically that Most thought is unconscious We have no direct conscious access to the mechanisms of thought and language Our ideas go by too quickly and at too deep a level for us to observe them in any simple way Abstract concepts are mostly metaphorical Much of the subject matter of philosophy such as the nature of time morality causation the mind and the self relies heavily on basic metaphors derived from bodily experience What is literal in our reasoning about such concepts is minimal and conceptually impoverished All the richness comes from metaphor For instance we have two mutually incompatible metaphors for time both of which represent it as movement through space in one it is a flow past us and in the other a spatial dimension we move along Mind is embodied Thought requires a body not in the trivial sense that you need a physical brain to think with but in the profound sense that the very structure of our thoughts comes from the nature of the body Nearly all of our unconscious metaphors are based on common bodily experiences Most of the central themes of the Western philosophical tradition are called into question by these findings The Cartesian person with a mind wholly separate from the body does not exist The Kantian person capable of moral action according to the dictates of a universal reason does not exist The phenomenological person capable of knowing his or her mind entirely through introspection alone does not exist The utilitarian person the Chomskian person the poststructuralist person the computational person and the person defined by analytic philosophy all do not exist Then what does Lakoff and Johnson show that a philosophy responsible to the science of mind offers radically new and detailed understandings of what a person is After first describing the philosophical stance that must follow from taking cognitive science seriously they re examine the basic concepts of the mind time causation morality and the self then they rethink a host of philosophical traditions from the classical Greeks through Kantian morality through modern analytic philosophy They reveal the metaphorical structure underlying each mode of thought and show how the metaphysics of each theory flows from its metaphors Finally they take on two major issues of twentieth century philosophy how we conceive rationality and how we conceive language

Philosophy in the Flesh George Lakoff, Mark Johnson, 1999 Nietzsche on Consciousness and the Embodied Mind Manuel Dries, 2018-09-10 Nietzsche's thought has been of renewed interest to philosophers in both the Anglo American and the phenomenological and hermeneutic traditions Nietzsche on Consciousness and the Embodied Mind presents 16 essays from analytic and continental perspectives Appealing to both international communities of scholars the volume seeks to deepen the appreciation of Nietzsche's contribution to our understanding of consciousness and the mind Over the past decades a variety of disciplines have engaged with Nietzsche's thought including anthropology biology history linguistics neuroscience and psychology to name just a few His rich and perspicacious treatment of consciousness mind and body cannot be reduced to any single discipline and has the potential to speak to many And as several contributors make clear Nietzsche's investigations into consciousness and the embodied mind are integral to his wider ethical concerns This volume contains contributions by international experts such as Christa Davis Acampora Emory University Keith Ansell Pearson Warwick University Jo o Const ncio Universidade Nova de Lisboa Frank Chouraqui Leiden University Manuel Dries The Open University Oxford University Christian J Emden Rice University Maria Cristina Fornari University of Salento Anthony K Jensen Providence College Helmut Heit Tongji University Charlie Huenemann Utah State University Vanessa Lemm Flinders University Lawrence J Hatab Old Dominion University Mattia Riccardi University of Porto Friedrich Ulfers and Mark Daniel Cohen New York University and EGS and Benedetta Zavatta CNRS

Aesthetics and the Embodied Mind: Beyond Art Theory and the Cartesian Mind-Body Dichotomy Alfonsina Scarinzi, 2014-11-24 The project of naturalizing human consciousness experience has made great technical strides e g in mapping areas of brain activity but has been hampered in many cases by its uncritical reliance on a dualistic Cartesian paradigm though as some of the authors in the collection point out assumptions drawn from Plato and from Kant also play a role The present volume proposes a version of naturalism in aesthetics drawn from American pragmatism above all from Dewey but also from James and Peirce one primed from the start to see human beings not only as embodied but as inseparable from the environment they interact with and provides a forum for authors from diverse disciplines to address specific scientific and philosophical issues within the anti dualistic framework considering aesthetic experience as a process of embodied meaning making Cross disciplinary contributions come from leading researchers including Mark Johnson Jim Garrison Daniel D Hutto John T Haworth Luca F Ticini Beatriz Calvo Merino The volume covers pragmatist aesthetics neuroaesthetics enactive cognitive science literary studies psychology of aesthetics art and design sociology

Embodied Mind, Meaning, and Reason Mark Johnson, 2017-11-20 Mark Johnson is one of the great thinkers of our time on how the body shapes the mind This book brings together a selection of essays from the past two decades that build a powerful argument that any scientifically and philosophically satisfactory view of mind and thought must ultimately explain how bodily perception and action give rise to cognition meaning language action and values A brief account of Johnson's own intellectual journey through which we track some of the most important discoveries in the field over the past forty years sets the stage Subsequent chapters set out Johnson's important role in embodied cognition theory including his cofounding with George Lakoff of conceptual metaphor theory and later their theory of bodily structures and processes that underlie all meaning conceptualization and reasoning A detailed account of how meaning arises from our physical engagement with our environments provides the basis for a nondualistic nonreductive view of mind that he sees as most congruous with the latest cognitive science A concluding section explores the implications of our embodiment for our understanding of knowledge reason and truth The resulting book will be essential for all philosophers dealing with mind thought and language      Imagining Religion in the Czech Republic

Jakub Havlicek,2021 How do we think about ourselves and others Part one of the book examines the notion of human universals in cultural anthropology psychology linguistics and in cognitive sciences This part is focused on the issue of examining the processes of conceptualization categorization and classification of human types and identities and it examines the role of psychological essentialism in these processes It also focuses on the topic of religiously interpreted identities Part two examines religiosity in modern Czech society Contemporary Czech religiosity or lack thereof has been interpreted narrowly from the perspective of socially and culturally conceptualized factors Other possible factors have been neglected for example neuropsychological aspects The World Religions Paradigm that underpins teaching about religions in Czech education system is composed of reified concepts of religious traditions This paradigm provides a basis for essentialised conceptualization of religiously interpreted identities in contemporary Czech society      Inseminations Juhani and researchers provides a theoretically informed overview of Almond's novels and fresh analysis of individual texts. Exploring broad themes such as philosophy, theology, and cognitive science, the volume also introduces new concepts such as mystical realism, literary Catholicism, and radical landscape. Embodied Social Cognition Jessica Lindblom, 2015-07-03. This book clarifies the role and relevance of the body in social interaction and cognition from an embodied cognitive science perspective. Theories of embodied cognition have during the last decades offered a radical shift in explanations of the human mind from traditional computationalism to emphasizing the way cognition is shaped by the body and its sensorimotor interaction with the surrounding social and material world. This book presents a theoretical framework for the relational nature of embodied social cognition which is based on an interdisciplinary approach that ranges historically in time and across different disciplines. It includes work in cognitive science, artificial intelligence, phenomenology, ethology, developmental psychology, neuroscience, social psychology, linguistics, communication, and gesture studies. The theoretical framework is illustrated by empirical work that provides some detailed observational fieldwork on embodied actions captured in three different episodes of spontaneous social interaction and cognition in situ. Furthermore, the theoretical contributions and implications of the study of embodied social cognition are discussed and summed up. Finally, the issue what it would take for an artificial system to be socially embodied is addressed and discussed as well as the practical relevance for applications to artificial intelligence (AI) and socially interactive technology.
