The Hidden Curriculum - Faculty Made Tests in Science Education Practices Sheila Tobias,1997 Self-Studies of Science Teacher Education Practices Shawn M. Bullock,Tom Russell,2012-03-20 Part of a vital Springer series on self study practices in teaching and teacher education this collection offers a range of contributions to the topic that embody the reflections of science teacher educators who have applied self study methodology to their own professional development The material recognizes the paradox that lies between classroom science and the education of science teachers the disciplines of science are often perceived as a quest for right answers an unintentional by product of the classroom focus on right answers in student assessment in science In contrast the profession of teaching has few right answers and frequently involves the management of conflicting tensions A dilemma thus arises in science teacher education of how to shift perspectives among student teachers from reductionist to more inclusive attitudes that are open to the mercurial realities of teaching The self studies presented here are unique fresh and stimulating They include the input of a beginning science teacher as well as science teacher educators from a range of backgrounds and varying levels of experience In addition the volume presents a truly international perspective on the issues with authors hailing from five countries Providing analysis at the leading edge of education theory this collection will make fascinating reading for those teaching science as well as those teaching science teachers

Congress. House. Committee on Science,2000 Embracing Diversity in the Learning Sciences Yasmin B. Kafai,2012-10-12 More than a decade has passed since the First International Conference of the Learning Sciences ICLS was held at Northwestern University in 1991 The conference has now become an established place for researchers to gather The 2004 meeting is the first under the official sponsorship of the International Society of the Learning Sciences ISLS The theme of this conference is Embracing Diversity in the Learning Sciences As a field the learning sciences have always drawn from a diverse set of disciplines to study learning in an array of settings Psychology cognitive science anthropology and artificial intelligence have all contributed to the development of methodologies to study learning in schools museums and organizations As the field grows however it increasingly recognizes the challenges to studying and changing learning environments across levels in complex social systems This demands attention to new kinds of diversity in who what and how we study and to the issues raised to develop coherent accounts of how learning occurs Ranging from schools to families and across all levels of formal schooling from pre school through higher education this ideology can be supported in a multitude of social contexts The papers in these conference proceedings respond to the call Metacognition in Science Education Anat Zohar,Yehudit Judy Dori,2011-10-20 Why is metacognition gaining recognition both in education generally and in science learning in particular What does metacognition contribute to the theory and practice of science learning Metacognition in Science Education discusses emerging topics at the intersection of metacognition with the teaching and learning of science concepts and with higher order thinking more generally The book provides readers with a background on metacognition and analyses the latest developments in the field It also gives an account of best practice methodology Expanding on the theoretical underpinnings of metacognition and written by world leaders in metacognitive research the chapters present cutting edge studies on how various forms of metacognitive instruction enhance understanding and thinking in science classrooms The editors strive for conceptual coherency in the various definitions of metacognition that appear in the book and show that the study of metacognition is not an end in itself Rather it is integral to other important constructs such as self regulation literacy the teaching of thinking strategies motivation meta strategies conceptual understanding reflection and critical thinking The book testifies to a growing recognition of the potential value of metacognition to science learning It will motivate science educators in different educational contexts to incorporate this topic into their ongoing research and practice

A Short Course in Discrete Mathematics Edward A. Bender, S. Gill Williamson, 2005-01-01 What sort of mathematics do I need for computer science In response to this frequently asked question a pair of professors at the University of California at San Diego created this text Its sources are two of the university's most basic courses Discrete Mathematics and Mathematics for Algorithm and System Analysis Intended for use by sophomores in the first of a two quarter sequence the text assumes some familiarity with calculus Topics include Boolean functions and computer arithmetic logic number theory and cryptography sets and functions equivalence and order and induction sequences and series Multiple choice questions for review appear throughout the text Original 2005 edition Notation Index Subject Index

The Human Side of Dyslexia Shirley Kurnoff, 2001 This text is an inside look at dyslexia the challenges emotions and rewards from childhood through to the college experience It contains 142 interviews with parents siblings and college students It aims to help parents see how to tap the wonderful strengths of their children It offers pragmatic steps for problem solving at each section's end It also has a discussion of how siblings feel While the title implies a book on dyslexia its messages also work for parents of children with any kind of learning disability

Science of Memory Henry L. Roediger III, Yadin Dudai, Susan M. Fitzpatrick, 2007-04-26 Scientists currently study memory from many different perspectives neurobiological ethological animal conditioning cognitive behavioral neuroscience social and cultural The aim of this book is to help initiate a new science of memory by bringing these perspectives together to create a unified understanding of the topic The book began with a conference where leading practitioners from all these major approaches met to analyze and discuss 16 concepts that are crucial to our understanding of memory Each of these 16 concepts is addressed in a section of the book and in the 66 succinct chapters that fill these sections a leading researcher addresses the section's concept by clearly stating his or her position on it elucidating how it is used and discussing how it should be used in future research For some concepts there is general agreement among practitioners from different fields and levels of analysis but for others there is general disagreement and much controversy A final chapter in each section also written by a leading researcher integrates the various viewpoints offered on the section s concept then draws conclusions about the concept This groundbreaking volume will be an indispensable reference for all the students and researchers who will build upon the foundation it provides for the new science of memory
