Macnicol, 2006-01-12 Age discrimination is a highly topical issue in all industrialised societies against a background of concerns about shortening working lives and ageing populations in the future Based upon detailed research and adopting an interdisciplinary approach this unique study traces the history of the age discrimination debate in Britain and the USA since the 1930s It critically analyses the concepts of ageism in social relations and age discrimination in employment Case studies on generational equity and health care rationing by age are followed by an analysis of the British government's initiatives against age discrimination in employment The book then traces the history of the debate on health status and old age addressing the question of whether working capacity has improved sufficiently to justify calls to delay retirement and extend working lives It concludes with a detailed examination of the origins and subsequent working of the USA's 1967 Age

Discrimination in Employment Act Social Exclusion in the UK Mel Hughes, 2025-02-28 In UK society there are cultural norms and assumptions that affect many marginalised groups and this book aims to address and challenge these through the lens of the people who have lived these experiences Social Exclusion in the UK presents a range of lived experiences alongside a critical commentary on the impact of social stigma exclusion and marginalisation on people's lives This book's chapters are co-authored by people with lived experience and academics and are all underpinned by the Transformative Learning Theory developed by scholar Mezirow The marginalised experiences discussed in this book include different types of substance users care leavers asylum seekers offenders HIV positive those living in poverty or those who identify as transgender What makes this book unique is that it gives a voice to those who have been the most affected by inequality whether it's economic or social and health inequalities. Those affected are the least likely to be involved in shaping and informing responses to it and this lack of involvement risks the further exclusion of those who are already marginalised. A few of the ways this book aims to challenge this include legitimising and prioritising lived experience expertise, fostering critical reflection of our own beliefs and assumptions, and drawing on lived experience expertise to inform responses and solutions.
