Method, Substance, and the Future of African Philosophy Edwin E. Etieyibo, 2018-02-24 This book takes stock of the strides made to date in African philosophy. Authors focus on four important aspects of African philosophy: the history, methodological debates, substantive issues in the field, and direction for the future. By collating this anthology, Edwin E. Etieyibo excavates both current and primordial knowledge in African philosophy, enhancing the development of this growing field.

Iconic Works of Art by Feminists and Gender Activists Brenda Schmähmann, 2021-07-22 In this book, contributors identify and explore a range of iconic works (Mistress Pieces) that have been made by feminists and gender activists since the 1970s. The first volume for which the defining of iconic feminist art is the raison d'être, its contributors interpret a Mistress Piece as a work that has proved influential in a particular context because of its distinctiveness and relevance. Reinterpreting iconic art by Alice Neel, Hannah Wilke, and Ana Mendieta, the authors also offer important insights about works that may be less well known, those by Natalia LL, Tanja Ostojić, Swoon, Clara Meneses, Diane Victor, Usha Seejarim, Ilse Fuskov, Phaptawan Suwannakudt, and Tracey Moffatt, among others. While in some instances revealing cross-influences between artists working in different frameworks, the publication simultaneously makes evident how social and political factors specific to particular countries had significant impact on the making and reception of art focused on gender. The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history, visual studies, and gender studies.

Prospectus, with List of Publications and Maps Hakluyt Society, 1938 Opening Exercises and Prospectus of the Institute of Jewish Studies Universitah ha-'Ivrit bi-Yerushalayim. Makhon le-mad'e ha-Yahadut, 1925 Paratransit in African Cities Roger Behrens, Dorothy McCormick, David Mfinanga, 2015-09-07 Public transport systems in contemporary Sub-Saharan African cities are heavily reliant upon paratransit services. These services are defined as informal transportation which operates between the public and individual private spheres. In Africa, paratransit is characterized by low quality of vehicles and chaotic management, but it also provides cheap, accessible, and flexible transport solutions for the urban poor. It is typically poorly regulated and operates as a set of informal businesses. A common result of weak public sector regulation and a fare strategy in which owners claim a fixed daily revenue target and drivers who keep the variable balance as income is destructive competition and poor quality of service. There is an incontrovertible case for improving the quality, reliability, and coverage of public transport systems, and some city governments have attempted to do so by initiating reform projects that envisage the phased replacement of paratransit operations with formalised bus rapid transit systems. In this book, the authors argue that there are, however, path dependencies and constraints that limit the possible extent of public transport system reform. Paratransit operations also have some inherent advantages with respect to demand responsiveness and service innovation. Attempts to eradicate paratransit may be neither pragmatic nor strategic. Two future scenarios are likely: hybrid systems comprised of both paratransit and formally planned modes and systems improved by upgrades and strengthened regulation of existing paratransit services The business strategies and aspirations of incumbent paratransit operators in three case cities Cape Town Dar es Salaam and Nairobi are discussed as well as their attitudes towards emerging public transport reform projects International experiences of hybrid system regulation and paratransit business development are reviewed in order to explore policy options The authors contend that policies recognising paratransit operators and seeking contextually appropriate complementarity with formalised planned services will produce greater benefits than policies ignoring their continued existence Prospectus for a North Cascades National Park John Michael McCloskey,1963
