Nine Gates Entering The Mind Of Poetry Essays:

Nine Gates Jane Hirshfield, 1997-08-22 A Gate Enables passage between what is inside and what is outside and the connection poetry forges between inner and outer lives is the fundamental theme of these nine essays Nine Gates begins with a close examination of the roots of poetic craft in the mind of concentration and concludes by exploring the writer's role in creating a sense of community that is open inclusive and able to bind the individual and the whole in a way that allows each full self expression in between Nine Gates illumines the nature of originality translation the various strategies by which meaning unfolds itself in language poetry's roots in oral memory and the importance of the shadow to good art A person who enters completely into the experience of a poem is initiated into a deeper intimacy with life Delving into the nature of poetry Jane Hirshfield also writes on the nature of the human mind perception and experience Nine Gates is about the underpinnings of poetic craft but it is also about a way of being alive in the world alertly musically intelligently passionately permeably In part a primer for the general reader Nine Gates is also a manual for the working writer with each gate exploring particular strategies of language and thought that allow a poem to convey meaning and emotion with clarity and force Above all Nine Gates is an insightful guide to the way the mind of poetry awakens our fundamental consciousness of what can be known when a person is most fully alive

Knowing and Learning as Creative Action: A Reexamination of the Epistemological Foundations of Education A. Stoller, 2014-09-19 In Knowing and Learning as Creative Action Aaron Stoller makes the case that contemporary schooling is grounded in a flawed model of knowing which draws together mistakes in thinking about the nature of the self of knowledge and of reality which are contained in the epistemological proposition S knows that p SP To the contrary Stoller argues that the German conception of Bildung must replace SP thinking as the guiding metaphor of knowing within educational research and practice Central to this reconstruction is a theory of creative inquiry which claims that knowledge emerges from embodied social engagement in the world and therefore knowing is a form of creative action Stoller constructs a new paradigm of knowing and learning as an emergent process of creative making the goal of which is the cultivation of what he calls maker's knowledge which is the capacity for and habit of creative action

My Business is Circumference Stephen Berg, 2001 Twenty eight contemporary American poets reflect on the poems that have most influenced their own creative vision and offer their best new works in this examination of poetic expression Each entry includes a new poem from the author the text of a poem or poems that particularly influenced the development of the new poem and an essay about that influence The dialogue created between the new works of the poets and the poems that they love provides insight into the poetic process and speaks to the meaning and endurance of great art

Ten Windows Jane Hirshfield, 2015-03-17 A dazzling collection of essays on how the best poems work from the master poet and essayist Poetry Jane Hirshfield has said is language that foment revolutions of being In ten eloquent and highly original explorations she unfolds and explores some of the ways this is done by the inclusion of hiddenness paradox and surprise by a perennial awareness of the place of uncertainty in our lives by language's own acts of discovery by the powers of image statement music and feeling to enlarge in every direction The lucid understandings presented here are gripping and transformative in themselves Investigating the power of poetry to move and change us becomes in these pages an equal investigation into the inhabitation and navigation of our human lives Closely reading poems by Dickinson Bash Szyborska Cavafy Heaney Bishop and Komunyakaa among many others Hirshfield reveals how poetry's world making takes place word by charged word By expanding what is imaginable and sayable Hirshfield proposes poems expand what is possible Ten Windows restores us at every turn to a more precise sensuous and deepened experience of our shared humanity and of the seemingly limitless means by which that knowledge is both summoned and forged The Asking Jane Hirshfield, 2025-08-19 Now in paperback the long awaited new and selected collection by the author of some of the most important poetry in the world today The New York Times Magazine assaying the ranges of our shared and borrowed lives In an era of algorithm assertion silo and induced distraction Jane Hirshfield's poems bring a much needed awakening response actively countering narrowness The Asking takes its title from the close of one of its thirty one new poems don't despair of this falling world not yet didn't it give you the asking Interrogating language and life pondering beauty amid bewilderment and transcendence amid transience Hirshfield offers a signature investigation of the conditions contradictions uncertainties and astonishments that shape our existence A leading advocate for the biosphere and the alliance of science and imagination she brings to both inner and outer quandaries an abiding compass the choice to embrace what is to face with courage curiosity and a sense of kinship whatever comes In poems that consider the smallest ant and the vastness of time hunger and bounty physics war and love in myriad forms this collection drawing from nine previous books and five decades of writing brings the insights and slant lights that come to us only through poetry's arc delve and tact through a vision both close and sweeping through music inflected thought and recombinant leap With its quietly magnifying brushwork and numinous clarities The Asking expands our awareness of both breakage's grief and the possibility for repair Another Place Andrew Elkins, 2002 Contending that many good poets live and write in the American West Andrew Elkins suggests that the western landscape be it New Mexico desert or Alaskan wilderness shapes the work that is created there The place's essence and spirit inevitably become part of the work that flows from the poet's creativity Elkins examines the work of Peggy Pond Church John Haines Adrian C. Louis Richard Hugo Jane Hirshfield and several cowboy poets Texas Christian University Press The Splash of Words Mark Oakley, 2016-08-16 Whether you love poetry or haven't read it since school The Splash of Words will help you rediscover poetry's power to startle challenge and reframe your vision Like throwing a pebble into water a poem causes a splash of words whose ripples can transform the way we see the world ourselves and God Through thirty selected poems from the fourteenth century to the present day Mark Oakley explores poetry's power to stir our settled ways of viewing the world and faith shift our perceptions and even transform who we are A Study Guide for Jane
