Britannica Student Encyclopedia Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc, 2014-05-01 Entertaining and informative the newly updated Britannica Student Encyclopedia helps children gain a better understanding of their world Updated for 2015 more than 2 250 captivating articles cover everything from Barack Obama to video games Children are sure to immerse themselves in 2 700 photos charts and tables that help explain concepts and subjects as well as 1 200 maps and flags from across the globe Britannica Student is curriculum correlated and a recent winner of the 2008 Teachers Choice Award and 2010 AEP Distinguished achievement award Mediating Multiculturalism Daniella Trimboli, 2020-08-04 Using digital storytelling a new media genre that began in California in the late 1990s and that proliferated across the West in the 2000s as a site of analysis this book asks What is done in the name of the everyday Like everyday multiculturalism digital storytelling is promoted as an accessible enabling and ordinary phenomenon that represents cultural experience more accurately than official sites As such the genre frequently houses stories of migration community and ethnic and racial differences In turn digital story collections often act as digital monuments or repositories of multiculturalism giving a digital life to narratives of migration cultural difference and national belonging This is evidenced in one of the world s largest public collections of digital stories found in the Australian Centre for the Moving Image ACMI and referenced throughout this book Using examples from this collection and pointing to comparable ones in the UK and North America this book investigates how notions of the everyday become a channel through which certain long standing discourses of race get redeployed in multicultural nations What can digital storytelling teach us about the status and future of multiculturalism in these societies Can digital storytelling re mediate multiculturalism in new progressive ways Changes in Attitudes to Immigrants in Britain, 1921-2021 Ben Braber, 2025-03-04 This book reviews changes in attitudes towards immigrants in Britain and the language that was used to put these feelings into words between 1921 and 2021 It analyses in what context attitudes were articulated and where they came from To determine what was specifically British it makes international comparisons It applies a historical and linguistic method for an analysis of so far relatively unused primary sources It also explores secondary resources and to provide context engages with the existing literature that deals with immigration but is not focused on attitudes or not always covers the entire period after 1921 and links post 1921 developments to what was set in motion before 1921 to sketch a long history that runs into the present The linguistic historical approach applied in this book brings it all together for the first time It discovers when and how attitudes to immigrants in Britain changed after 1921 where they originated and what language was used to voice these attitudes in particular specific words their meanings the under or overtones they bore and what people meant or felt when they used them Australia's New Migrants Maria Elena Indelicato, 2017-09-22 This book offers a comprehensive and critical analysis of the tropes employed in the categorization of international students living and studying in Australia Establishing the position of migrant students as subjects of the border the author employs various models of emotion in an analysis of the ways in which public debates on migration and education in Australia have problematised international students as an object of national compassion or resentment in relation to other national concerns at the time such as the country's place in the Asia Pacific region the integrity of its borders and the relative competitiveness of its economy Applying an innovative methodology which combines the breadth of a diachronic study with the depth afforded by the close analysis of a diverse range of case studies including the protests staged by Indian international students against a spate of violent attacks which led to their labelling as soft targets in national discourses Australia's New Migrants constitutes an important contribution to our understanding of the ways in which emotions shape national collective orientation towards others As such it will appeal to scholars of sociology cultural studies and education with interests in migration race and emotion Diasporas, Cultures and Identities Martin Bulmer, John Solomos, 2014-01-02 Diasporas Cultures and Identities brings together a range of original research papers from Ethnic and Racial Studies that are concerned with the question of the role of diasporic ties and the social cultural and political processes that are engendered by the changing experiences of these communities Chapters cover a range of geopolitical and empirical contexts and serve to highlight the diverse theoretical and empirical questions that have become an integral part of the study of race and ethnicity in the contemporary environment The study of the role of diasporas in modern societies has proceeded apace over the past two decades Although the role of diasporic communities has been the subject of historical reflection for some time it is only now that the concept of diaspora has become a core theme in the social sciences and humanities We have seen an ongoing discussion about notions such as diaspora transnationalism and cosmopolitanism and their appropriateness as conceptual frames of reference for analyzing the diverse experiences of communities that have become dispersed across the globe This collection makes an important contribution to this body of scholarship and research This book was originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies Diasporic Journeys, Ritual, and Normativity among Asian Migrant Women Pnina Werbner, Mark Johnson, 2019-07-09 The power of embodied ritual performance to constitute agency and transform subjectivity are increasingly the focus of major debates in the anthropology of Christianity and Islam. They are particularly relevant to understanding the way transnational women migrants from South and South East Asia, Christians, Muslims and Buddhists who migrate to Asia, Europe and the Middle East to work as carers and maids re-imagine and recreate themselves in moral and ethical terms in the diaspora. This timely collection shows how women international migrants stereotypically represented as a nation of servants reclaim sacralised spaces of sociality in their migration destinations and actively transform themselves from mere workers into pilgrims and tourists on cosmopolitan journeys. Such women struggle for dignity and respect by re-defining themselves in terms of an ethics of care and sacrifice. As co-worshippers they recreate community through fiestas, feasts, protests and shared conviviality while subverting established normativities of gender, marriage and conjugality. They renegotiate their moral selfhood through religious conversion and activism. For migrants the place of the church or mosque becomes a gateway to new intellectual and experiential horizons as well as a locus for religious worship and a haven of humanitarian assistance in a strange land. This book was published as a special issue of the Asia Pacific Journal of Anthropology.
