Migration Baen Science Fiction:

The History of the Science-fiction Magazine Michael Ashley, 2000 This third volume in Mike Ashley's four volume study of the science fiction magazines focuses on the turbulent years of the 1970s when the United States emerged from the Vietnam War into an economic crisis. It saw the end of the Apollo moon programme and the start of the ecology movement. This proved to be one of the most complicated periods for the science fiction magazines. Not only were they struggling to survive within the economic climate they also had to cope with the death of the father of modern science fiction John W Campbell Jr while facing new and potentially threatening opposition. The market for science fiction diversified as never before with the growth in new anthologies, the emergence of semi professional magazines, the explosion of science fiction in college, the start of role playing, gaming magazines, underground and adult comics and with the success of Star Wars media magazines. This volume explores how the traditional science fiction magazines coped with this from the death of Campbell to the start of the major popular science magazine Omni and the first dreams of the Internet.

Future Wars... and Other Punchlines Hank Davis, 2015-08-16 Trade paperback humorous military science fiction anthology. Featuring a mix of classic science fiction reprints and original stories by Baen regulars. Includes stories by David Drake, Frederik Pohl, Howard F Waldrop, Christopher Anvil and more. CATCH 22 IN OUTER SPACE War as the general said is hell but it also has its humorous moments though the humor may be grim and you _had to be there to get the joke. War is likely to continue into the future and into space no matter how many idealistic speeches are made and U N sponsored treaties get signed and so will the wartime jokes ranging from slapstick to gallows humor. And if _you had to be there to get the point some of the best writers in science fiction are on board to put you there. David Drake the Dean of military science fiction turns to fantasy and shows the result of having a combat balloon manned by halflings of dubious competence. Frederik Pohl tells of the invasion of Earth by aliens with impenetrable force shields and how a goldbricking soldier with all the ethics of a career politician became an unlikely and unwilling hero. Herbert Gold considers the lighter side of the strategy of M A D Mutual Assured Destruction. Theodore R Cogswell in a story which the Science Fiction Writers of America voted into their Science Fiction Hall of Fame presents an isolated planet's outpost left behind after the collapse of galactic civilization and the psychological subterfuge that kept morale from failing. Steven Utley and Howard F Waldrop in a Nebula Award and Locus Award nominated work of alternate history report on General George Armstrong Custer's ill fated mission when he and his dirigible borne paratroopers were attacked by Chief Crazy Horse's biplane squadron. Christopher Anvil shows that when aliens with overwhelming technological superiority invade Earth their campaign can completely unravel because the local conditions are nothing like those back home. A tornado is just moving air how could that be dangerous. And more. Future war may be future hell but there'll also be future hilarity. particularly when they are relevant to written texts Its focus is on science fiction in the English language though due attention is given to international authors whose works have been frequently translated into English Since science fiction became a recognized genre and greatly expanded in the 20th century works published in the 20th and 21st centuries are most frequently discussed though important earlier works are not neglected The texts are designed to be helpful to numerous readers ranging from students first encountering science fiction to experienced scholars in the field Fantasy Newsletter, 1983 The Subject of Race in American Science Fiction Sharon DeGraw, 2006-12-19 While the connections between science fiction and race have largely been neglected by scholars racial identity is a key element of the subjectivity constructed in American SF In his Mars series Edgar Rice Burroughs primarily supported essentialist constructions of racial identity but also included a few elements of racial egalitarianism Writing in the 1930s George S Schuyler revised Burroughs normative SF triangle of white author white audience and white protagonist and promoted an individualistic highly variable concept of race instead While both Burroughs and Schuyler wrote SF focusing on racial identity the largely separate genres of science fiction and African American literature prevented the similarities between the two authors from being adequately acknowledged and explored Beginning in the 1960s Samuel R Delany more fully joined SF and African American literature Delany expands on Schuyler s racial constructionist approach to identity including gender and sexuality in addition to race Critically intertwining the genres of SF and African American literature allows a critique of the racism in the science fiction and a more accurate and positive portrayal of the scientific connections in the African American literature Connecting the popular fiction of Burroughs the controversial career of Schuyler and the postmodern texts of Delany illuminates a gradual change from a stable essentialist construction of racial identity at the turn of the century to the variable social construction of poststructuralist subjectivity today Best of TOC, 2013 2012 was quite a year for change in the publishing industry Throughout the year we used the TOC community site toc.oreilly.com to provide insightful analysis of the latest industry developments And since ours is a community site the articles we publish aren t just from the TOC team we also feature perspectives from many of the top innovators and publishing experts It wasn t easy but we hand picked the most noteworthy articles from 2012 for inclusion in this Best of TOC collection We think you ll agree that the more than 60 pieces featured here represent some of the most thought provoking dialog from the past year We ve arranged the articles by category so whether you re most interested in marketing revenue models production or innovation in general you ll find something to get your creative juices flowing Resource description page
