Policy Preferences from Texts Andrea Volkens, Judith Bara, Ian Budge, Michael D. McDonald, Hans-Dieter Klingemann, 2013-11-28 The Manifesto data are the only comprehensive set of policy indicators for social economic and political research It is thus vital that their quality is established The purpose of this book is to review methodological issues that have got in the way of straightforwardly using the Manifesto data since our two preceding volumes were published and to resolve them in ways which best serve users and textual analysts in general The book is thus generally about text based quantitative analysis with a particular focus on the quality of the CMP MARPOR data and ways of assessing and using them In doing so the book goes beyond normal data documentation essential though that is to confront the analytic issues faced by users of the data now distributed by MARPOR It also provides concrete strategies for tackling these at the research level with examples from the field of political representation The problems of uncertainty error reliability and validity considered here are generic issues for political analysts in any area of research so the book has an interest extending beyond the Manifesto estimates themselves in particular to other textual analyses In addition the book widens the range of applications introduced in our two previous volumes and discusses the extension of the manifesto project database to cover Latin America

International Pressures, Strategic Preference, and Myanmar's China Policy since 1988 Nian Peng,2020-09-08 This book mainly explored the driving forces and evolvement of Myanmar s China policy since 1988 by adopting a neo classical realist approach an emerging theoretical paradigm aiming at analyzing state s foreign behaviour by connecting systemic and unit variables which refers to external environments and domestic restraints respectively It is the first book that seeks to give a theoretical explanation of Myanmar s diplomacy thereby bridging the gap from basic research to the deep one with theories It also introduced the concept of strategic preference and argued that the competing strategic preference that the Burmese leaders have namely integration and isolation determines Myanmar s responses to China in the Post Cold War era which not only demonstrates the neo classical realism as an useful instrument of looking into state s foreign policy and deepens the understanding on Myanmar China relations The main content of this book is divided into seven parts in which the first chapter introduces the background the present study on Myanmar s China policy and China s Myanmar policy the analytical framework and the arrangement of the content Chapter 2 focuses on the roots and changes of Myanmar s competing strategic preference as well as its influences on Myanmar s foreign policy The following four chapters examine the international pressures and benefits imposed by systemic imperatives and Burmese leaders specific strategic preference since 1988 and investigate Myanmar s policy towards China in different periods Finally it provides a comprehensive conclusion that outlines and reviews the origins and evolution of Myanmar s China policy and predicts its future directions This book is suitable for the graduates and experts who are interested in international relations the Asian studies and neo classical realism in particular and Myanmar politics and foreign relations as well as China s relation with neighboring countries

The Dynamics of Public Policy Adrian Kay, 2006-01-01 this is a first rate book It draws on a wide range of reading philosophy economics and politics and teases out a number of important ideas for academics and postgraduates it surely will be essential reading and I think has pushed the study of public policy forward Michael Connolly Political Studies Review In The Dynamics of Public Policy Adrian Kay sets out the crucial methodological theoretical and empirical implications of two important trends in the social sciences a frequently expressed ambition for analysis of movies not stills and the regular observation that policy politics and governance is becoming more complex Beginning with a discussion of the centrality of temporality change and history to the social sciences he develops the provocative claim that existing models of the policy process are of limited value in understanding and explaining policy dynamics Instead the author argues that it is only through structured narratives that we can really understand and explain complex policy histories He sets out a methodology for structuring policy narratives and illustrates the claims of the book through four detailed case studies health policy and pharmaceutical regulation in the UK and agricultural policy and budget policy in the EU Adrian Kay s book will appeal to academics in the fields of policy analysis public administration and public sector management as well as political science and political theory
